WESTERLY'S FIRE DEPARTMENT

Slicking Up For Inspection and Parade on Saturday—

William Hoxsey's Will Probated—Bulk of $150,000 Estate Goes to His Widow—Local Small Notes.

The annual inspection and parade of the Westerly fire department will be held last Saturday, and the several companies will turn out with full ranks. In the morning the fire houses and apparatus will be open for public inspection, and company representatives will be present to extend courtesies to visitors.
In the afternoon the three organizations comprising the department—the Alert Hook and Ladder company, Rhode Island Steam Fire Engine company No. 1, and Cyclone Steam Fire Engine company No. 2—with platoon of police, Chief Cottrell and assistants, the fire police and the Westerly band will form in procession in front of street, at 2 o'clock, and proceed over the usual line of march. Upon the return to Dixon square, after just before dismissal, an inspection ceremonial will be held by Chief Cottrell and the other members of the board of engineers and officers of the Westerly fire district. There will be no visiting organizations in the parade, but all visiting firemen will be entertained at the fire house after the parade.

There was a regular meeting of the Westerly probate court, Judge Edward M. Burke, Tuesday afternoon. Charles E. Coon, administrator of the estate of Eugene W. Coon, presented an inventory of the estate, which was ordered recorded. The administrator's petition to sell specified boats, an automobile and other articles was granted.

The will of William Hoxsey, who died April 18, 1910, was admitted to probate. The estimated value of the personal property is $150,000.
The will states: "Believing that the interest of my dear daughter, Mary M. Hoxsey Thomas, will be as judicially cared and provided for by her mother as my said daughter could be by me, and believing also that the estate which I may leave will be as judicially devoted to the welfare of my said daughter, in whom I am particularly interested, as if said estate was disposed of by myself, and knowing that my kind, faithful and beloved wife would be more independently situated, I give, devise and bequeath to my said wife, Louise D. Hoxsey, all my estate, real and personal, wherever located."

Whereas, my sister, Harriet M. Wilcox, late of Westerly, left by her will, dated Sept. 21, 1891, which contained among others this clause:

"I give, devise and bequeath to my executors and trustees all of my stock in the Babcock & Wilcox company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New Jersey, and in the Babcock & Wilcox, limited, a corporation of London, England, to have and to hold the same in trust for the following uses and purposes: I direct that the same shall not be divided or sold without the approval of all my executors and trustees for the term of ten years after my death, during which time I direct that all of the dividends and income received from the said shares shall be paid to my brother, William Hoxsey, and that the expiration of said ten years the said 500 shares shall be transferred to him, or his heirs, and he may, in his discretion, in case at that time he shall not be living, and in the event of his dying without making any disposition of said 500 shares of stock, then I direct that the same go to his heirs at law, and in the event that he does not survive me then I direct that the dividends on said stock for said term of ten years be paid to his heirs at law and at the expiration of said term the said stock to go to his heirs at law."

Mr. Hoxsey's will devised this stock to his wife, Louise D. Hoxsey. The will was dated July 5, 1904, and witnessed by Mabel A. Saunders and Edward G. Cundall. Judge Burke confirmed Mrs. Hoxsey as executrix of the estate, in bonds of $150,000, and appointed as appraisers Orville Stillman, Arthur L. Perry and Everett Barnes.

Mr. Harriet M. Wilcox mentioned in the will, who with her husband, Stephen Wilcox, who with her husband, owned Wilcox park, the Memorial building and Westerly public library. Mr. Hoxsey made no public bequests. Mrs. Hoxsey being the sole beneficiary under the will. Mr. Hoxsey was town clerk of Westerly for over twenty years and decided to withdraw his candidacy for the office three years ago.

The inventory of the estate of J. Alonzo Babcock was received and ordered recorded.
Decree of superior court was received of a compromise settlement of the suit of John F. Maxson against the estate of Luke Maxson. According to the agreement, John F. Maxson is awarded $350 and his wife, Lizzie E. Maxson, $100. The decree was ordered recorded.

Westerly Tuesday.

Mrs. Russell B. Smith has gone to Vermont on a visit to relatives.
Henry L. Sisson of Charlestown visited relatives in Westerly Tuesday.

Teams standing in narrow Broad street interfered materially with the parades on Memorial day.

Plans are completed for the buildings on the Welch property in Broad and Union streets, to replace those burned several months ago.

The Fifth company made a creditable showing in the Memorial day parade, marching as well as regulars and turning out with fuller ranks than on the previous Memorial days.

William A. Wilcox and Henry A. Stahl, who were candidates for the Stoughton school committee, withdrew Tuesday in favor of Albert Stillman as the Pawtucket candidate on the republican ticket.

Convicts and Good Roads.

Many things have been done in Colorado that are hardly worthy examples for other states to follow; but its present method of employing its convict labor furnishes an object lesson that deserves wide consideration. Last summer about 40 per cent. of the Colorado convicts were put on work outside their prison walls. A thousand were sent exclusively in road building. The cost for each prisoner employed was 36 cents a day, and the roads where the roads were built paid this amount, less the amount that the state would have to pay to maintain them in the prison. The day's work was eight hours, and for each month's work there was a substantial subtraction from the term of imprisonment. No chains were attached, no stripes were worn and there was no armed guard to patrol the work camps, yet less than one-half of 1 per cent. of those thus employed were lost by escape.

The success of the method may be due largely to the fact and judgment of the warden. The warden is said to be the desire of every prisoner, but he must earn the privilege by good conduct. The warden personally has a talk with each prisoner before assigning him to this service and receives his pledge that he will be true and faithful to his trust. "The best effect of this," he says, "is that every man who goes from prison to road work and keeps his word with me has taken a long step toward reformation."—Boston Transcript.

RECITED FOR G. A. R.

Twelve Year Old Elucationist Presented Lincoln's Picture.

Master George Pierpont Taylor, the 12 year old elucationist, presented the sixth successive year at the G. A. R. memorial exercises held in the Grand opera house on Sunday evening, says the Pawtucket Post. Taylor gave the "Charge of the First Minnesota at Gettysburg," and was roundly applauded. He was recited and presented with a beautiful picture of Abraham Lincoln. He held the picture in one hand, he stepped forward and gave the following lines:

Spirit of Lincoln, summon all thy loyal:
Nerve them to follow where thy feet have trod:
To prove by voice as clear and deed as loyal,
Man's brotherhood in our one Father—God.

Bridgeport.—Morris B. Beardsley, William T. Hincks and William T. Haviland, appraisers on the estate of Samuel S. Sanford, have filed their report. The estate is to have a union decoration of the graves of their deceased members on Sunday, June 12. The service will be held at St. Mary's in the evening.

MENTAL HYGIENE.

Topic of Address by Clifford W. Beers, Secretary of Connecticut Society.

Clifford W. Beers, secretary of the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene, delivered an address on "The Work of Hospitals for the Insane," at the 27th annual conference of the American Association of Mental Hygienists, which was held at St. Louis, May 24. He gives an account of his own case as related in "The Mind That Found Itself," and tells of the formation of the Connecticut and the National Society for Mental Hygiene. Further he says:

"Thousands of cases of insanity, as preventable as my own case originally was, will continue to develop until the public demands that general practitioners shall cease to regard the subject of nervous and mental disorders as one requiring no special study. The existing state of affairs is such that the public would make it necessary even for practicing physicians to study these subjects, and would insist upon the day when adequate courses of study in psychiatry and allied subjects will be included as a vital part of the curriculum of all medical schools. In respect, our country is far behind the countries of continental Europe where no physician can secure his diploma until he has passed an exacting examination in psychiatry. A thorough knowledge of nervous and mental disorders, however, is not of itself sufficient. All people must be taught to seek intelligent advice promptly, and this they will leave to the whole public, for generations perhaps, has enjoyed the benefits of education in mental hygiene. Furthermore, institutions wherein the numerous border-line cases can be treated, cases which are not admitted to sanatoria for nervous people and which should not be committed to hospitals for the insane, must be established."

"I firmly believe that any well-organized system of medical service, having for its chief object the prevention of nervous and mental disorders in the community, cannot fail in time to prevent the occurrence of a majority of the preventable cases which develop each year, but which, today, through ignorance or neglect, are permitted to reach a stage where commitment is necessary and cure so difficult or impossible."

One for a Family.

Penguin eggs are rich in fatty phosphorized constituents. They are easily digested, and English physicians feed them to invalids. One is big enough to make an omelet for a family. A man lined with a penguin's egg is good for a hard day's work. It takes twenty minutes to boil a penguin's egg, but the result is worth the wait.

When Anesthetics Were Unknown.

In 1839 Velpeau, one of the greatest surgeons of his time, wrote as follows: "The escape from pain in surgical operations is a chimera which it is idle to follow up to-day. 'Knife and pain' in surgery are two words which are always inseparable in the minds of patients and this necessary association must be conceded."

"Why don't you stop those hissing steam pipes?"

possible when you are on the stage," was the prompt retort.—Jugend.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific trouble.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and fast relief to the millions who were suffering with that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—25¢ a bottle. Write for your free self what it can and will do. What Do You Know

About Advertising?

Millions of dollars are wasted in advertising every year. Thousands of advertisers are chasing the moonbeams in the Hope of finding a pot of gold.

All roads of publicity do not run to the coveted treasure.

Many are lost in the maze.

Charles W. Mears, of the Winton Motor Carriage Co., one of America's greatest advertisement writers, has written a series of rational and sensational articles dealing with "Forms in Advertising." In the June issue

Judicious Advertising

On the News Stands Today

he explains the fallacy of many as to what is "Reason Why" advertising. He shows that "talky" copy is not necessarily "Reason Why" and that illustrated advertisements may in themselves be "Reason Why" arguments. There is much in these articles that will help you to know advertising and business.

Salesmen! Merchants! Manufacturers! Advertisers!

W. J. Pilkington, the man who in six months, by advertising, doubled the sales of every retail dealer in Newton, Iowa, has written for this issue "The Science of Retail Merchandising."

"Colonizing an Empire by Advertising" is told by S. J. Ellison, J. J. Hill's General Passenger Agent.

"Getting Close to the Dealer" will help all manufacturers and salesmen.

"Community Advertising" will interest cities and commercial clubs in building up their towns.

"The Genius of the Overland" is the fascinating life story of John W. Willys, the king of motordom.

Judicious Advertising tells how to sell goods—how to merchandise. It helps to solve the world's greatest problem, "Get the Orders."

DON'T WORRY;

It Makes Wrinkles.

Worry over ill-health does your health no good, and merely causes wrinkles, that make you look older than you are.

If you are sick, don't worry, but go about it to make yourself well. To do this we repeat the words of thousands of other former sufferers from worry, "I like Viburn-O."

It is a wonderful female remedy, as you will admit if you try it.
